Hamilton Coleman Wins the 2025 Championship

Win a marathon opening-round match, knock off a couple of top-rated foes, and walk home with the U.S. Junior Amateur Trophy as an unheralded champion at week's end.

Where has this script been followed before?

Some 365 days ago at Oakland Hills Country Club outside of Detroit, Trevor Gutschewski surprised many – he came into the week as the No. 3570 player in the World Amateur Golf Ranking®/WAGR® -- by surviving a 23-hole match and rolling to the title, defeating medalist Blades Brown in the Round of 32, two heralded players from the People's Republic of China, and then U.S. National Junior Team member Tyler Watts in the 36-hole finale.

Hamilton Coleman, currently No. 625 in the WAGR, took a similar path to the 77th edition of this championship at Trinity Forest Golf Club.

The 17-year-old from Augusta, Ga., needed 25 holes – the longest U.S. Junior Amateur match in 23 years – to oust his Round-of-64 foe, then defeat three consecutive lefties with remarkable résumés, and hold on to out-duel world No. 52 Minh Nguyen in Saturday's 36-hole final, 2 and 1.

Coleman, who built as much as a 5-up lead through 12 holes on yet another extremely hot day (temperatures in the mid-90s and Heat Index in the low triple digits) in north Texas, closed out a grueling week of golf by converting a 10-foot birdie putt on the 99-yard 35th hole.

The future University of Georgia Bulldog – he will matriculate at the Athens campus in 2026 – now joins a list of illustrious U.S. Junior Amateur champions that includes Tiger Woods, current world No. 1 Scottie Scheffler, Jordan Spieth, Johnny Miller, Jordan Spieth, David Duval, Will Zalatoris and Nick Dunlap. He is also the fourth future Georgia golfer to win this title along with Madden Hatcher (1976), Jack Larkin Sr. (1979) and major champion Brian Harman (2003).

"It's really cool just seeing the names that are also on that trophy," said Coleman. "Scottie Scheffler, Tiger Woods, all the great players of the game have come through this tournament. Just to be on that level with them is a great feeling.

"I know I haven't had the best season coming into this [championship], but I know that my game can stack up to those quality of golfers if I just keep hitting quality shots and putting pressure on. And I mean, it also helps that I do hit it slightly shorter than most because I'm hitting most of the [approach] shots first, so just being able to put that pressure on [my opponents] and then just hitting quality shots."

Many who follow junior golf could see this possibly coming for Coleman. Last August, he edged Brown, now a fledgling professional, in a two-hole playoff to win The Junior Players

Championship, a prestigious event held at TPC Sawgrass, in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla. He also was selected to represent the East Team in the Wyndham Cup at Forest Highlands, in Flagstaff, Ariz., the American Junior Golf Association's Ryder Cup-style competition. In 2022, Coleman advanced to the Drive, Chip & Putt National Finals at Augusta National Golf Club, just a short drive from his residence.

He qualified for last year's U.S. Junior but had to concede his opening-round match to Miles Russell after 10 holes due to a back injury (he was 5 down at the time).

At full health and in a much different physical and mental state, Coleman used the momentum from his 25-hole victory over Texan Isaiah Igo to knock off several decorated players, including 2024 runner-up Tyler Watts (No. 42 in WAGR), 2024 U.S. Amateur match-play qualifier Sohan Patel and then Colton, No. 26 in the WAGR, in the semis on Friday afternoon.

Making a slight adjustment to his putting alignment and receiving positive reinforcement from caddie Mitch Blackburn, a math teacher at Dowell Middle School in McKinney, Texas who caddies part-time at PGA Frisco some 45 minutes from Trinity Forest, Coleman kept getting more and more comfortable on the slick greens. Against Nguyen, an 18-year-old who was the first player from Vietnam to ever advance to a USGA final and an incoming freshman at Oregon State University, Coleman was the equivalent of 7 under par, with the usual match-play concessions.

Even though he was 5-up after 12 holes, he knew some-one of Nguyen's talent was not going to go down without a fight. Nguyen has won four low-level professional events in Vietnam, represented the International Team in the 2024 Junior Presidents Cup, claimed the national amateurs of Taiwan and Malaysia, and has competed in The Amateur Championship conducted by The R&A, losing out in a play-off in June for a spot in the match-play draw at Royal St. George's, in England.

Nguyen, who played 6-under golf, trimmed the deficit to 3 down at the lunch break and then kept chipping away at Coleman's advantage in the afternoon round. But Nguyen's putter let him down in several key moments, including chances to win the 28th and 34th holes. In the morning 18, he bogeyed Nos. 1, 8 and 11 to give away holes.

Before his match-clinching putt on No. 35, Coleman had not won a hole since converting a 5-footer for birdie on the par-4 25th hole. Nguyen claimed Nos. 26, 29 and 30 to tighten the screws until Coleman ended the festivities by calmly converting the 10-footer on the penultimate hole, a putt that just snuck in the left portion of the hole.

Championship History

In 1948, the USGA inaugurated the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship to determine the best junior golfer in the United States and also to help junior golfers learn how to realize the most from the game, win or lose.

The Junior Amateur was hardly the first junior competition to attract a national field. The Western Junior had been established in 1914. In 1946, two more competitions appeared, each with a claim on the national title. One was sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, the other by the Hearst Newspapers.

The first U.S. Junior Amateur was played at the University of Michigan Golf Course and drew 495 entries. The starting field of 128 players was determined by sectional qualifying rounds at 41 sites. Dean Lind, of Rockford, Ill., was the first champion. Lind defeated Ken Venturi, of San Francisco, a future U.S. Open champion, in the final.

By 1963, entries had surged to 2,230, a record for the 13th consecutive year. At the time, there was no handicap limitation for entrants. That changed in 1964 when a handicap limit of 10 strokes was introduced. In 1999, the championship attracted a record 4,508 entries.

In 1978, the USGA conducted the Junior Amateur over the South Course of the Wilmington (Del.) Country Club, while the Girls' Junior was being staged on the North Course. This was the first time the USGA conducted two national championships simultaneously at the same golf club.

The Junior Amateur is among the most difficult of all USGA championships to win due to two factors: the age limit and the tremendous number of fine young players who enter each year. Only one player, Tiger Woods, has won the Junior Amateur three times, winning in 1991, 1992 and 1993. Jordan Spieth, who first won in 2009, became the second player to claim more than one title when he won the 2011 championship. In fact, only seven players have reached the final at least twice: Mason Rudolph (1949, 1950), Eddie Pearce (1968, 1969), Mike Brannan (1971, 1973); Tim Straub (1982, 1983); Woods; Spieth; Jim Liu (2010, 2012); and Noah Goodwin (2016, 2017).

Woods, who was 15 years, 6 months and 28 days old when he won in 1991, was the youngest champion until 2010. At 14 years, 11 months and 15 days, Liu broke Woods' record by more than six months with his victory.

The Junior Amateur has another, more dubious, distinction. It is the only USGA championship for which Jack Nicklaus has been eligible that he did not win at least once. Nicklaus qualified for the championship five times; however, his best finish came in 1956, when he was a semifinalist.

The Junior Amateur remains today an educational opportunity as well as a competitive outlet. Pre-championship players' dinners have attracted guest speakers such as Francis Ouimet, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller and Annika Sorenstam, all willing to share their knowledge and experience with young players.

In 2020, the U.S. Junior Amateur was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Aligning with ongoing USGA initiatives to expand support of junior golf, the field size for the U.S. Junior Amateur increased from 156 players to 264, beginning with the 2021 championship at The Country Club of North Carolina.
